EIGHT THOUSAND DOLLARS IS GIVEN CARNEGIE LIBRARY BY GOLDEN SPIKE COMMITTEE

The eight thousand dollars tendered the Carnegie Library by the Golden Spike committee was formally accepted at a meeting of the directors last night. The report follows:"To the Board of Directors, Carnegie Free Library, Ogden, Utah.

"Gentlemen:

"At the last meeting of this Board, the president, John E. Carver, appointed me as a committee of one to consider the manner of handling the $8,000 fund to be turned over by the railroad companies from the Golden Spike committee to the Library and to suggest a working plan under which this money is to be expended and the use to which it is to be put."I respectfully report that I have given this matter considerable attention and wish to make the following recommendations:"1. That this fund be kept, at all times, separate and apart from other monies of the Library and that such portion of it as is not required for immediate use be placed at interest in a savings bank and that it be designated "Golden Spike Library Fund.""2. I recommend that an immediate expenditure of up to say $1,000 be authorized and a committee designated to procure historical records, souvenirs, mementoes and the like, pertaining to the original event of driving the Golden Spike and the connection of the two railroads and to other important happenings suggestive of the original construction and early operation of the Central Pacific and Union Pacific railroads. These relics should be assembled and kept in the Library and might also include records and mementoes of other transportation events through which this country was settled —as for instance, the journeys of thehand cart companies. My thought is that these objects would be assembled slowly and I would simply have the money available so that the nucleus of the museum be established and added to as opportunity is offered."3. I recommend that the balance of the money be expended, from time to time, on books bearing particularly on transportation and its development, preference being given to books dealing with the construction of the Central Pacific and Union Pacific railroads and biographies of men, who were instrumental in carrying out the building of these two systems and who have done big work in their later development. These books might even include fiction and historical novels, providing the transportation element is of great importance as it is in much of the literature pertaining to the settlement of any new country."4. I recommend that in or on the cover of each work, purchased from this fund, a leaflet of appropriate design be stamped or printed and that this should contain a paragraph explaining the fact that the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific companies made available the fund through which this book was bought."5. As soon as proper space in the Library can be secured, I would recommend that the entire transportation section be placed in one room of aloof, and, if possible, the transportation exhibit of relics be also kept in that room."6. I recommend that a committee be appointed by the president to recommend and select such books and other articles as it might be desired to purchase with the money contributed by the railroad companies."Respectfully submitted, "WARREN L. WATTIS"is given to all who are unattached to any church.ELIM ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH—Corner of Jefferson avenueand Twenty-third street. Arthur E.
Olson, pastor. Sunday school and Bible
